

Traits of Successful Entrepreneurs

Scenario	Entrepreneurial traits
A local Italian restaurant notices sales are dropping. The last few customers who have visited asked if there is a 'lower calorie' menu to look through. The restaurant decides to offer a new line of fresh salads.
A local high school student looking for ways to make money for university starts a snow shoveling business. When spring arrives and customers stop calling, rather than giving up, he decides to offer his customer lawn-mowing services.
Your friend is practicing for their driver's license test because they want to be able to have a ride-share job in the future. They have already been unsuccessful twice. Instead of quitting, they decide to put in more time practicing and ask experienced drivers for tips. They finally pass the third time.
A local clothing designer wants to start an online business but they aren't very tech savvy. They look up an online e-commerce course and teach themselves how to develop a website.	